to make it, within
our capabilities,
a better place
in which to live.”*

—GENERAL JAMES H. DOOLITTLE

Dear Friends,

We are very excited about the Jimmy Doolittle Air & Space Museum Education Foundation capital campaign to build a new museum on 11 acres at the Travis Air Force Base Heritage Center. This multi-million dollar capital project is for all of you, like ourselves, who have a passion for aviation, for history and a love of our country. The Museum will tell the story and honor those that have made the ultimate sacrifice for our freedom! We need your help to create a place of learning that inspires and educates.

Our primary goal at the new museum is to educate the public on the history of Jimmy Doolittle, our war history, the Berlin Airlift, the return of POWs from Vietnam and why so many hundreds of thousands of people have sacrificed and died to keep our country and the world free!

All of us on the capital campaign cabinet agree that now is the time to build the new museum. We are determined to achieve our campaign goal. We need your support in bringing the new Jimmy Doolittle Air & Space Museum to reality!

Thank You!
Sincerely,
